TIMELY TOPICS

HOW MEASLES ARE SPREAD

According to the department of the board of health of Kansas "The cause of measles and the exact means of spread are not accurately determined. Careful studies indicate, however, that measles, like whooping cough, is spread directly from case to case, and is rarely, if ever, conveyed indirectly by infected objects or by a third person." Let it be remembered that measles is extremely infectious and can be acquired by very light exposure. It is a disease to which practically every one is susceptible, and is most rapidly spread wherever it appears in a locality containing those who have not previously had it.

We will refer on another occasion to the course of the disease and will just lay down a few lines of treatment. In every case measles should be attended by a physician. He alone can attend to the proper treatment of the disease itself, and what is more important, he alone can be on guard against the various complications of the disease. The eruption shows first on the lining of the mouth as round or nearly round red spots, raised just above the surface. Following the eruption on the lining of the "mouth" comes that on the skin, which is well known and easily recognized. This eruption begins most frequently around the face and neck, and is composed of small, slightly elevated spots of a dusky red color. These give the skin a peculiar mottled appearance. The eruption lasts usually four or five days and disappears as the other symptoms improve.

SUNDAY TRADING

In Edmonton a Greek who has been an outstanding violator of the law so far as the Sunday sale of cigars, candy, etc., is concerned, has now decided that it is better to close up on Sunday. This view has dawned upon him by virtue of the fact that he has been fined, first $10 and costs, and later $40 and 10 cents. This is an answer to the argument that laws do not help morals. What is generally required is that the law be enforced. Would it not have been a standing disgrace for a Greek, while enjoying the hospitality of a free country, to have been allowed to ignore its laws regarding the Sabbath. This would not be a free, prosperous country very long if we allowed the Sabbath to be violated with impunity. European and every other foreigner must be taught to respect our Sabbath laws. A little more attention to them would not be out of place for free born Canadians or Americans. Aye?

A RESOLVE

The Trades Union Congress, Nottingham, Eng., representing one million and seven hundred thousand men, at a congress "Resolved that this congress, recognizing, as it does, the great benefits which have accrued in the past to the workers of the nation in consequence of the almost universal observance of the Sunday as a weekly day of rest, resolves to do all in its power to restrict Sunday labor in the future to the narrowest possible limits consistent with humane requirements, and the necessities of the age. Bravo! As a rule the working man stands pat for the Sabbath observance. Many because of the rest it affords and the opportunity to attend to spiritual needs; and many others because of the rest alone, which nature calls for.

THE SOUTH POLE

If the present news is correct Capt. Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, has succeeded in reaching the much coveted distinction of discoverer of the south pole. Whether this is correct or not, it is a fact that five different parties, representing Norway, Germany, Japan, Australia and England, set out to make the discovery, and the race has been a keen one. Whichever country has succeeded it is certain that there will not be the bad feeling aroused that characterized the supposed discovery of the north pole. There are but few undiscovered regions on this globe of ours now. The next thing for men to discover is the way in which nations may live at peace with each other, and spend their energies in promoting the moral and spiritual perfection of the race. This is indeed a wide field, and may be there is sufficient spice of excitement in the pursuit of this to provide zest in the pursuit.

THE GREAT STRIKE

To those who study human nature, the great strike of coal miners is of considerable interest. A million men whose livelihood is gained by delving for coal hundred of feet below the surface of the earth presents a great problem and gives ample food for thought the world over. It cannot be said today, as it was said thirty years ago, that the British miner is more a beast than a man, for there has evolved from their midst men who are strong minded and keen, and who possess great organizing ability. This strike was not engineered by non-working socialistic or anarchistic leaders, but is a movement of the coal miners in their own interests; which shows that education and true British ideas of justice and freedom have not been taught them in vain.

British statesmen are having the greatest difficulty of their lives in trying to adjust matters to the satisfaction of both masters and men. A minimum wage is the cry. A wage that shall make living possible without shortage of food. A wage that shall not be shortened or diminished through the caprice of the money market or through desire on the part of the masters to raise the price of the commodity. Already great suffering is being experienced in all parts of England. Factories are being closed down, towns are put in darkness through shortage of gas coal. Many people are beginning to feel more acutely the pangs of hunger. So acute is the position that the King is asked to exercise his influence toward stopping the strike. Let us hope matters will soon be adjusted satisfactorily.

Dr. Warnock and the New Grain Act

We give below some extracts from Hansard relative to the above. The clause referred to contains additional interest to the people of the west as a whole from the fact that it deals with the petition circulated by the Credit Men's Association. Irrespective of what political sentiment we may entertain, it is worthy of note that Dr. Warnock is looking after the interests of the electorate of Macleod.

The extracts from Hansard are as follows:—

MR. MITCHELL

- (a) to elevators that are in danger of collapse;
- (b) to places where grain is damp and thereby liable to become damaged;
- (c) for the purpose of distributing seed grain to any point in the western division;
- (d) in cases where the operator of any country elevator reports in writing, under oath, that some portion of the grain in such elevator is heated, and that in order to preserve such grain it is necessary to ship such heated grain to the terminal elevator for treatment; provided, however, that no relief shall be granted in such last mentioned cases.

After hearing the views of those present, the officials explained their position, and promised to send all the cars they possibly could at once.

Wearily Willie and Tired Tim (gentlemen of leisure), on their spring tour, passed recently through our bright and progressive little town. Among other innovations that they noticed was the splendidly equipped lighting system recently installed on Rattlesnake Ave. The light, which is suspended on an up-to-date iron arc made by Scottie, has an automatic timing attachment, with town clock and curfew alarm to tell the good people when to go to bed and put out the light. Verily wonders will never cease.

The Methodist ladies' aid has started a campaign for the purpose of securing a consolidated school for the districts surrounding Cayley. The present attendance at the village school is over forty, and eight grades to teach. It must be physically impossible for any teacher to do a satisfactory work with this member, and with all these grades. We understand too, that more children are expected at school soon, which will only aggravate the situation. This agitation on the part of the ladies is commendable, and is just the public spirit which the writer of Timely Topics was hinting at last week. Are not the men, the fathers of children attending school, too, lax in regard to this question? This is an age when laxity in regard to this question is positively sinful, and the children do not thank their parents for it presently.

There will be a meeting at the home of Mrs. F. Walker (just north of the village, on Wednesday, March 20th, at 2.30 p.m., to which the ladies of the village and surrounding district are invited, to consider the school question as it affects the village and neighborhood. The Rev. Oliver E. Mann has been asked to secure information regarding the Consolidation of Schools, and to address the ladies upon the question at that meeting. Come and show your interest in a question that affects the future of the children. A conversation upon the subject will follow the address, and any information or suggestions anyone may have will be welcomed. Refreshments provided. The meeting will terminate in time to enable mothers to return home in time for household duties. Come.

Consolidated Schools

Discussed by the Ladies' Aid of the Cayley Methodist Church

On Thursday last the Methodist ladies aid held their monthly meeting at the parsonage. The first of a series of conversations upon important questions was taken up with great interest and spirit. Mrs. F. Walker led in the conversation which was upon the subject of the Consolidation of Schools. She very clearly pointed out the duty of mothers, as well as fathers, taking an interest in the educational welfare of their children. She also referred to the evident imperfection of a school system which permits of schools being kept open at great expense and for half-a-dozen scholars or less, when, within a very few miles there is another school with over forty scholars overtaxing the resources of the teacher. The fact was also mentioned of some neighboring schools being closed all or part of the year because of lack of scholars, thus bringing a hardship upon the few children in the neighborhood by not providing scholastic privileges for them. It was pointed out that the solution of this problem is consolidation. It was also agreed that hitherto neither school trustees or ratepayers appeared to give the question the consideration it merits, and that the time had come for ladies of the surrounding districts to take the matter up. For the purpose of further considering the subject, a special meeting of the ladies (mothers and others) of the neighborhood will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Walker on Wednesday afternoon, March 20th, at 2.30. It is desired that all ladies of the district should strive to be present.

DR. WARKNOCK AND THE NEW GRAIN ACT
tioned cases as long as the warehouseman has sufficient room in his building for the re-handling of such grain;
(e) whenever, after due examination, the board considers it necessary and advisable in order to relieve congestion and facilitate the dispatch of grain.
Individual cases must be thoroughly examined first, and cause must be shown to convince the board that it is necessary and advisable in order to relieve the congestion, and to facilitate the dispatch of grain. So the whole section is built upon the idea that individual contingencies demand the exercise of this discretionary power of the board. Therefore, I think if the hon. gentlemen will keep in mind just the actual circumstances as they will present themselves, and will let this go through, I think that less than one year will serve to dispel any fear that may be at present abroad in western Canada concerning this requirement.

MR. WARKNOCK

I cannot let this occasion pass without uttering a word of protest against the proposed change affecting Section 305 of the Bill. I would not be doing my duty to my constituents were I to remain silent. Like many other hon. members on both sides of the House, I have received a large number of letters, telegrams and resolutions from farmers in Alberta, protesting against any amendment or suspension of this provision of the Manitoba Grain Act. The hon. member for Portage la Prairie (Mr. Meighen) speaking this afternoon, referred to the hon. member for Edmonton (Mr. Oliver) and said that that hon. member saw the principle and that he also saw a chance to make political capital. Now, I have here a report of the proceedings of a meeting of the United Farmers' Association of High River a short time ago. This will throw some light on the opinion of this Manitoba Grain Act held by the hon. member from Edmonton. It says:

The meeting was called at the instance of Mr. Reardon, secretary of the local branch of the United Farmers' Association, who felt that something should be done to show how the farmers of High River viewed the proposed change. In the absence of the president, Mr. R. A. Wallace was appointed chairman, and speaking of the situation he failed to see how the proposed change of the interests would relieve the grain blockade. At the present time he said the terminal elevators were crowded and it was impossible to relieve the blockade at this end. He viewed this as a step on the part of the interests to have obliterated from the statutes the only clause whereby the farmers had protection.

There is another matter here, to which I would call attention. This was stated by some members at the meeting. There are farmers who have shipped cars of wheat when the only grain they grew was oats, and others who had not threshed a bushel of oats or wheat had made car shipments from High River. Intimation was made by some one present that the law would be enforced hereafter with regard to false entries for cars.

I understand from this report that some farmers are unprincipled enough to order cars sent ostensibly for their own use and then hand these cars over to the elevators. I do not know whether there is any law to deal with that matter, but I think it should be looked into, and if there is such a law, the law should be enforced.

Hitting Back

A Toronto girl who has grown tired of hearing the way women who are ridiculous, made a neat fitting retort recently to some militant prose that was shown to her. Here was what was submitted to her: Backward, turn backward, O time, in your flight And give us a proper maiden, dressed proper and right. We are so weary of switches and rats Billie Burke clusters and peach-baskets hats, Wads of jute hair in a horrid pile Stacked on their heads to the height of a mile. Something is wrong with the maidens we fear! Give us the girls as they used to appear. Give us the girls we once knew of yore,

Whose curls didn't come from a hair-dressing store— Maidens who dressed with a sensible view And just as Dame Nature intended them to. Give us the girl with a figure her own And fashioned divinely by Nature alone. Feminine style's getting fiercer each year! O, give us the girls as they used to appear.

And here is the clever retort which she wrote: Backward, turn backward, O time in your speed, And grant us, in turning, the Men that we need. We are so weary of heartaches and tears! They are not worthy our love through the years, Where are the men who were constant and true. Ashes of memory!—so rare and so few Give us the men who will stay home— three nights out of seven— Our curses never cease till they're safely in heaven. Off to the races, the ball game and clubs, And, yes! I other women—that's just where it rubs! The noble, the loving are relics of yore Our smiles mask our hearts which are bleeding are sore. Backward, turn slowly, and show if that long-mourned-for treasure—a man, just a man.
